Some people are really good with Photoshop

Hi Rise Contest

Unfortunately, due to unforeseen circumstances for the first time in decades we didn't run a Western ski trip. So besides going to Mexico with my lovely wife last week, I spent time looking at the numerous pictures taken over the years bringing back many fun times and memories.

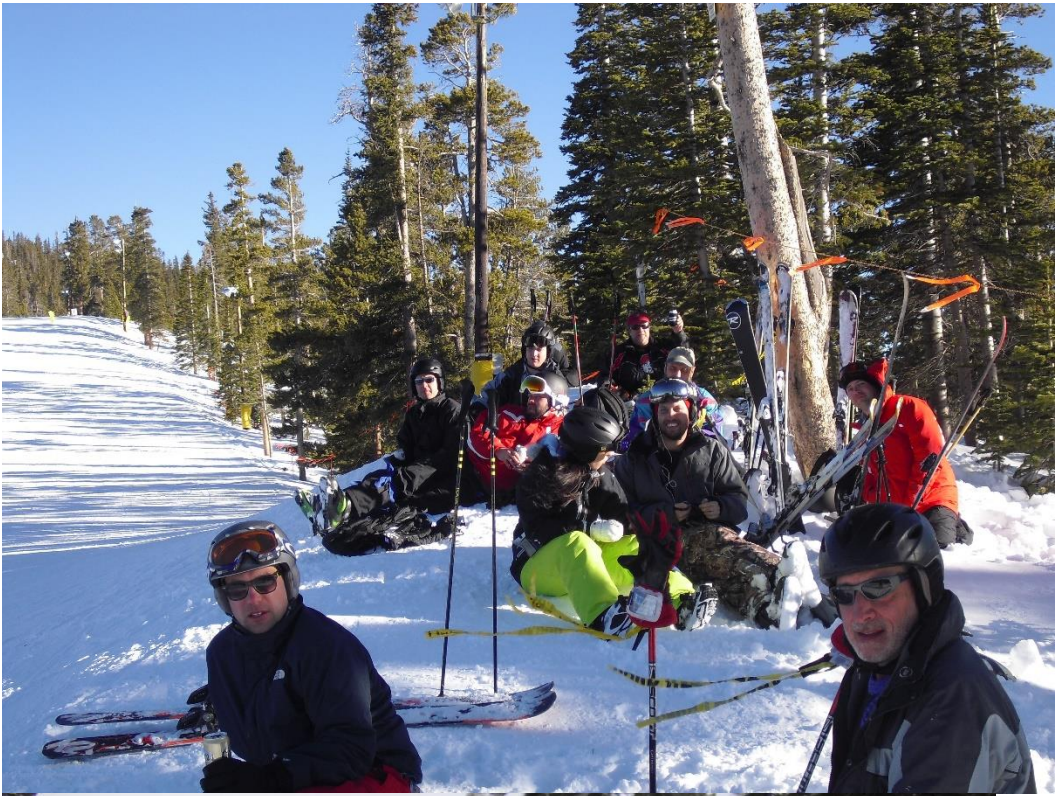

In the early 21st century we discovered that we were getting older and couldn't ski the full day anymore so instead we invented "The Vista Beer", this is when late in the day, as the last lift was closing, we would find ourselves as high up on the mountain as we could get and found a safe, quiet spot with a fantastic view or vista! Upon finding a place (Usually the first day) we would get as comfortable as we could, sitting in snow and open a beverage, usually beer. Hence, Vista Beer!

I know that we have been doing this for at least 15 years on all of the Hi Rise trips. So, I put together 6 pictures from various trips of us partaking in our secondary sport (12 ounce arm curls) and am now asking if you can guess the location where these six shots were taken (see next pages).

Send me an email with your guesses and see if anyone can get them all. Hopefully it will keep you off the couch for 5 minutes.
